Customer Reviews

"A great way to prepare children for the pleasure of a museum visit or a concert." --This text refers to an out of print or unavailable edition of this title.

Mike Venezia is the author of several nonfiction books for children.

bought for grand children ... they love it along with other books for kids about classical composers and CD's that I picked for them. I also bought them a Cd player of their own so they can listen to various passages of music on their own ... they love it all and ask each other when hearing a piece whether it is Mozart or Beethoven or ... - grkids range from 4 to 9

I bought this to read to my 4 year old, who recently started piano lessons. As his teacher expects parents to make children listen to famous pieces my son had questions about the composers. This book gives nice summary of life of Mozart, kind of music popular at that time and other musicians who lived around that time. It also helps children understand the composer created his master pieces through hard work.

All of the "Getting to Know" books (whether about composers or artists) I have purchased have been very useful. A lot of information is presented in a concise and entertaining way. A valuable teaching tool for any classroom or home library.

Love Mike Venezia's books on composers!! Very well-written!

good for beginners

My son got the book since he wasn't able to join us in Salzburg and he loves it!

As a teacher, I love this series! My goal is to teach my 3rd graders about the famous artists and composers. This series makes it easy, fun, and interesting!

We used this book with elementary students in our after school program. Since this year Mozart celebrated a special birthday, we decided to call our class Mozart Mania. First, the students purchased a copy of this book and read it. During our first after school session, the students watched the video The Magic Flute. For their second session, we reviewed Mozart's life by talking about the book, and then we played jeopardy game based on the book's content. The children were divided into three teams, had hand-held buttons to push, just like the real jeopardy game. The book was easy to read and loved by the students. Our third activity was to take the children to a Mozart concert played by the Lincoln Symphony. The book was a hit!
