Plant A Seed Of Peace

Synopsis

Forty-three delightfully illustrated stories of peacemakers from today and the past will capture the imagination of children of all ages. They tell of people whose lives point to something beyond themselves--a transforming faith in God. Readers learn how to put their faith into action so they too can grow a better world.

Rebecca Seiling grew up on a farm in Elora, Ontario. She has early memories of helping her parents to plant, weed, and hoe the large garden, and even better recollections of picking and eating the bountiful produce. Rebecca graduated from the University of Waterloo with a BA in Religious Studies, with an option in Peace and Conflict Studies. She completed her BEd from Queen's University, specializing in Primary/Junior and global and outdoor education.

Binding is horrible..The story is wonderful and so are the illustrations. The book binding is horrible. As I turned each page, they all came loose. I had many loose pages as I finished reading the stories. I cannot use it in this condition. Maybe going to a store to ask for them to repair it with a spiral binding would be a solution. That would be an extra cost I didn't count on.

This is a beautiful book, sort of a Martyrs Mirror for young children. The stories are accessible and introduce peacemakers that we've talked about at home before in a new way. I read a story or two from it almost every night at bedtime to my 4 and 5 year olds.
